

Musselwhite's Guided Tour

PrAACtical AAC Website

WHAT:

Kudos to Carole Zangari and Robin Parker for developing this fun, timely, and quickly changing website supporting AAC. This Guided Tour highlights key components of this website.

PRACTICAL THINKING: In this section, one idea is explored clearly. For example, in 'Magic Moments with Tellegami', Carole Zangari offers 7 great ideas for using this app creatively and authentically.

PrAACtical Thinking

STRATEGY OF THE MONTH: Strategies are simple, straightforward supports for teachers and therapists. A sample August strategy is 5 AAC Must Haves for the classroom or speech room. Each strategy is graphically interesting and offers links to more information.

Strategy of the Month

VIDEO OF THE WEEK: Each week a new video is shared.

Video of the Week

Musselwhite's Guided Tour

AAC e-Tool Box: This section provides online resources for AAC. Toolbox

Resources of interest to professionals supporting children and adults with AAC needs.

AAC e-Toolbox

BLOG LOVE: Find links to additional AAC resources.

Blogroll

- Adapting Creatively
Creatively adapting the environment, the opportunities, the mindsets that touch our children with disabilities.
- Adaptions 4 Kidz
Helping Our Differently Abled Kids Live Life to the Fullest
- Chappel Hill Snippets
Day to day as a mentor, speech pathologist, mom, wife, and technology junkie
- Friendship Circle Blog
Special Needs Resources for Parents & Educators
- Glenda's Assistive Technology Information & More
Access, Technology and Communication options for the Disabled Population: Information Shared. Enabling Solutions ~ Opening Doors.
- Jane Farrall's Blog
Literacy, AAC, Technology
- Living with Rett Syndrome
A control-freak forced into the world of 'special needs', trying to do the best for my daughter and still have a life.
- Speaking of Speech.blog.com
I wonder what goes on in that speech room
- Spectronics Home Blog Page
Inclusive Learning Technologies
- Speech Techie
Looking at Technology Through A Language Lens

Blog Love